Organizational Structure of the 7th CISM Military World Games (7th CWG)

1.3 Emblem and Mascot

Named as the “Bond of Peace and Friendship”, the emblem of the 7th CWG is made up of five – pointed stars, a colorful ribbon, the figure “7” and a peace dove. It is designed to reflect the quality of servicemen and armed forces as well as Chinese traditional culture and the local characteristics of Wuhan. Furthermore, it means to clearly deliver the message of “peaceful development” of the 7th CWG.

Bingbing, the mascot, whose name means “soldier” in Chinese, is inspired by Chinese sturgeon, a rare fish species found in the Yangtze River basin. The lively, adorable, tenacious and healthy Bingbing represents the hospitable hosts and their strong desire to meet all participating military athletes in Wuhan, China, which will witness “Military Glory, World Peace.”

1.4 Host City – Wuhan

Abbreviated as Han and located in central China, Wuhan is a megalopolis along the middle reaches of the Yangtze River and the capital city of Hubei Province. It is a major industrial, scientific, educational and technological base and transport hub of the country. With a land area of 8,569.15 square kilometers and 11.08 million permanent residents, it has a GRP of USD221.39 billion in 2018.

At latitude 29° 58′– 31° 22′N and longitude 113° 41′– 115° 05′E, Wuhan enjoys a northern subtropical monsoon climate characterized by abundant year – round precipitation and warm temperature, with rainfall, torridity and sunshine going hand in hand. Wuhan has distinct four seasons, featuring cold winter and hot summer, while the annual average temperatures are set between 15.8°C and 17.5°C and the annual frost – free period usually lasts for 211 to 272 days. The annual sunshine hours of the city are between 1,810 and 2,100 hours, and the annual solar radiation is between 104 and 113 KWH/cm<sup>2</sup>. The city has an annual precipitation of between 1,150 and 1,450 mm, with most rainfall occurring between June and August, accounting for about 40% of the annual precipitation.

Wuhan, a noted river city in China, is where the Yangtze River – the longest in China – and its biggest tributary the Han River meet and therefore give birth to the magnificent scene of three towns standing upright on three sides, namely Wuchang, Hankou and Hanyang. Also well – known as a City of Hundred Lakes, Wuhan is home to the East Lake – the largest urban lake in the country and its urban water area accounts for one – fourth of its total surface area. Dawn redwood is selected as the tree of Wuhan and plum blossom as its city flower.

With 3,500 years of history, Wuhan is a famous historical and cultural city of China and the birthplace of Chu (1,115 – 223 B. C. ) culture. Chu culture, a regional culture established by the ancient people of the State of Chu, belonged to the southern branch of the Chinese civilization, featuring bronze smelting, silk weaving, embroidery, literature, art, music and dancing. Its profound influence is still seen in local operas such as Han and Chu operas and folk vocal – art forms such as Hubei storytelling, Hubei drum ballad, and Hubei ditty and folk – tale chanting. Wuhan is also the place of the Wuchang Uprising, which triggered the Xinhai Revolution (1911), and ended the last emperor's reign of the Qing Dynasty. As a renowned science and education city in China, Wuhan has the third largest number of higher education institutions in the country. Furthermore, the city occupies a pivotal position in the country in terms of new and high – tech, automobile and commercial and trade circulation industries.

Wuhan is also a center of China's high – speed railways and the average travel time to other major cities in China, such as Beijing, Shanghai, Chongqing, Shenzhen and Hong Kong, is within five hours. With 62 international and domestic air routes, Wuhan is the aviation hub and the only city in central China to have direct flights to the five continents. The city has an extensive urban transport network, as well as 10 metro lines, with a total length of 354.6 kilometers and 216 operating stations.

As a key tourism city in central China, Wuhan is an important node for the development of the “Belt – and – Road Initiative.” It is home to three national top scenic spots, namely Yellow Crane Tower, East Lake Ecological Tourism and Scenic Zone and Mulan Cultural and Ecological Tourism Zone. The city is also famed for its plum and cherry blossoms, lotus and azalea, and its exquisite urban tourism and cultural offerings are all must – visit scenic spots, including Hankow Recreational Waterfront Park, Wuhan Garden Expo Park, Han Show Theatre, Happy Valley Wuhan and Haichang Polar Ocean World.
